OCTOBER 16, 1953

Educational Conference Inspires Faith, Hope

Last week some members of our faculty attended the fourth annual educational conference on the campus of Bethany-Peniel College in Bethany, Oklahoma. Previous conferences were held at the General Assembly in Kansas City, Eastern Nazarene College, and Pasadena Nazarene College. The primary purpose of these conferences is to unite the colleges in their effort in serving the church.

The keynote address of the conference was given by Dr. Samuel Young, general superintendent. Mr. John Stockton, general treasurer of the church, also gave an inspiring address, "Wills, Annuities, and Special Gifts."

Representatives from the various Nazarene colleges including the Theological Seminary were present. From Trevecca were Dr. Mackey, Rev. V. Neil Richardson, Rev. Keys and Dr. Gresham. In Monday's chapel service Dr. Mackey reported that they left the conference with faith, hope and confidence for the future.

Symphony Season Begins

On Tuesday evening, October 27, the Nashville Symphony Orchestra will open its 1953-54 concert season at the War Memorial Auditorium under the baton of Maestro Guy Taylor. The orchestra will perform Mozart's Symphony in A major. Also on the program will be compositions of De Bussy, Tanhauser, and Stravinsky. During the program Benny Goodman, renowned clarinetist, will perform Von Weber's Concertino accompanied by the orchestra.

This program is highly recommended by our music department and if any students are interested in attending they should obtain their tickets from Mrs. Keys.

Sophomores Head Program

A highlight of the Freshman Recognition week will be the Fine Arts Program Friday evening. It will be given by the Sophomore class, which has been in charge of the activities this week.

The program will consist of Freshman and Sophomore talent. The theme will be "Shine on, Harvest Moon", is being hummed; girls are plucking straw out of their hair; boys are rubbing their poor, tired feet; and all you see is green, green, green. What is going on? Why, this is Freshman Recognition week.

Week's Activities Honor Freshman

The whole week has been crammed full with exciting events. Monday morning dawned bright and early on a vividly decorated McClurkan building. One hundred thirty-eight Freshmen were led into chapel by the Sophomore officers while "Pomp and Circumstance" was rendered on the organ. After chapel they were given the extra special privilege of being first in lunch line with their trays being carried by sophomore hosts and hostesses to a special reserved section of the cafeteria. Tuesday morning around 4:00 A.M. lights began flickering all over the campus and sleepy-eyed girls and boys stumbled to the McClurkan building. Here they started on an early morning hike touring, of all places, the graveyard. After the hike the Sophomores served hot coffee and doughnuts to a group of tired Freshman. Wednesday was set aside for spiritual emphasis. At 7:00 a fine looking group of Christian young people gathered in front of the Administration Building from which they marched to College Hill Church, sitting in a special reserved section for the Freshmen. During the Thursday noon hour, Dale Martin, acting as master of ceremonies, interviewed the Freshmen on the steps of the Administration Building. From all over the campus resounded the cries of Kentucky, Alabama, West Virginia, and all of our other great states of the Southeastern zone. It is not over yet, Freshmen. Friday night Freshman talent is being represented in a fine arts program under the theme of "Harvest Moon." And then to climax the week, the Sophomore class combined with the Freshman are going on a hayride at Riverwood Riding Academy. Sounds exciting, doesn't it?

We have told you; we have tried to show you; we want you to know, Freshmen. Welcome! Welcome!

Chapel Bells

Ding! Dong! The hands of the clock point to 11:00. From all over the campus boys and girls wend their way to the chapel. It is time to again lay our books aside and enjoy an hour of inspiration and communion with God. The chapel services have certainly been uplifting this year and we are sure they will grow even better day by day.

Let us take a quick glance backward at some of the outstanding services. As we had our school revival the first week of school we were privileged to have Rev. Roy Betcher, pastor of Chattanooga First Church, to speak each morning in our chapel services. The overflow of seekers at the altar showed the worth of his inspiring messages.

Then we were also privileged to have Dr. "Jim" Short for two chapel services. Dr. Short captivated the students as he had them laughing one minute and bringing tears to their eyes the next. Dr. Short, a North Carolinian, took his schooling at Asbury College in Wilmore, Kentucky, and also has a degree from Northwest Nazarene College in Nampa, Idaho. He probably has the longest record of being District Superintendent of anyone else in the Nazarene Church. He has served thirty-three years on the Indiana, Iowa, Western Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Indianapolis districts. Probably no superintendent has organized more Nazarene churches. He has also served the college pastorates of Nampa, Idaho and Pasadena, California.

Two days were taken over by the Student Council for organization of classes and clubs and then the week was climaxed by a wonderful message from Rev. D. K. Wachtel. We all determined to burn a little brighter for the Lord as he spoke on the theme "Let your light so shine."

The past week we have listened to the wonderful words that have fallen from the lips of our own faculty. Dr. Mackey, Dr. Bracken, and Rev. Phillips have all delivered

Rev. Tidwell To Be

Chapel Speaker

Rev. W. M. Tidwell will be speaking next week in our chapel services beginning Tuesday, October 20.

After pastoring Chattanooga First Church for forty years, he entered into the evangelistic field and has been in constant demand from coast-to-coast. It is said that he never has any difficulty in finding a place to stay wherever he is, for he has friends in every state.

Rev. Tidwell is the author of books such as Effective Illustrations and Dressed Up Sin. He is known as an authority on such subjects as "Holiness" and "The Second Coming Of Christ."

At Trevecca Rev. Tidwell has a perpetual welcome. His spiritual and financial help has helped make our college what it is today.

Let us pray that the Lord's presence will prevail in each of these services with Bro. Tidwell.

Faculty Enjoys Social

Mrs. M. E. Spruill and Miss Mable Cooner recently entertained the faculty at a social gathering at the Spruill home on Lester Avenue.

Those attending relaxed and enjoyed hearing of each other's "first days at school." Miss Cooner added to the good time by giving an amusing reading.

The hostesses served delicious ice cream and cookies.

Finish The Work

As the freshman student enters college he very frequently encounters great difficulty in adjusting himself to his new environment. He suddenly finds himself among strangers, perhaps in a city far from his home, and all too frequently this same student decides to give up the idea of higher education. The student is facing one of the first really big decisions of his adult life. Should he leave college and get a mediocre job with an underpaid salary, or should he make a noble decision and remain in the class-room? The decision is his to make.

Let us consider the advantages of a normal education. A college education is a great help in developing one's personality. Especially in a Christian college does the student have special spiritual and social aids. A college education is essential for many types of vocational success. It is obvious that the amount of education you get largely determines what type of occupation you will eventually enter. If you are a college graduate, you will probably go into one of the professions or into a business that will afford opportunity to rise to an executive position. On the other hand, if the student drops out of college in his freshman year, or even in his junior year, he does not have enough formal training to

Student Wives Plan

Year Activities

The Student Wives Association met for the first time this year on Tuesday, September 28, in the college cafeteria, with Miss Amy L. Person, sponsor, in charge. A nominating committee was formed to nominate officers and create a constitution. Refreshments were served.

In the second meeting of the association the constitution was adopted, officers elected, and plans made for the year. Also, four committees were appointed which are the refreshment, program, decorating, and project committees.

The following were elected to offices: Peggy Childers, president; Louise Cunningham, vice-president; Jo Lolley, recording secretary; Marguerite Ingram and Marjorie White, corresponding secretaries; June Smith, treasurer; and Lela Johnson, reporter.

Plans for the year call for an intensive study of Bible characters, with a lot of work being done by the wives' giving reports each week on assignments. These Bible

Darda Staff Meets

The members of the 1953 - 1954 Darda Staff met at the home of their editorial sponsor, Mrs. K. W. Phillips, from 4:00 to 5:00 P.M. October 8 for their first business meeting. The editor, Frances Foster, opened the session with prayer. Mrs. Phillips served tea, coffee, cookies and mints as the staff busily made plans for the year's work. The business manager, Laurie Murray, presented interesting points concerning his phase of the work.

Those present were: Frances Foster, Laurie Murray, Virginia Curl, Carol Asbury, Rose Merchant, Anna Stucki, June Shirley, David Erickson, Bill Galloway, and Wayne Sharpes.

The Darda is a permanent record of student and faculty activities during the year. The Staff wants to make it a truly representative presentation of our school, its activities and ideals.

The Sophomores have been working hard to make this week one of the best and gayest for the Freshmen. Plan to attend this program and give the Freshmen a real welcome.

Librarian Entertains Staff Nashville Churches

Welcome Students

The library staff was entertained at a lovely dinner in the home of our school librarian, Mrs. A. B. Mackey, on Thursday, October 1, 1953, 6:00 p.m. The six girls who work on the staff this year were guests. These were: Misses Edith Lancaster, assistant librarian; Juanita Orndoff; Jayne Ledford; Rose Merchant; Iris Jane Gunther; and Joyce Blackmon, library typist. The menu consisted of delicious hamburger steak, accompanied by fully hot rolls and butter, lima beans, mashed potatoes, buttered asparagus, pickled beets, a beautiful fruit salad and iced lemonade. For desert, Mrs. Mackey chose to serve walnut ice cream with cookies, and surely you know enough about the nature of girls to realize that this was their delight. The dining table was decorated with tall, stately green candles with a bowl of beautiful flowers. After the meal everyone gathered in the living room to look at old Dardas, catching glimpses of how our faculty and campus used to look. This lovely atmosphere and the wonderful food, mixed with the friendly chatting and laughter made the evening very happy to be working under Mrs. Mackey's supervision.

Several programs have been given in the past three weeks in the various churches of the city honoring Trevecca College students, some churches honoring the Freshmen, and some honoring all the students as well as the Alumni.

The first program given was in honor of all students, former and present. This was at First Nazarene Church in the Young People's Service on Sunday evening, September 20. A former student, Bertha Bruce, was in charge. She introduced four other former students who spoke shortly on the history of Trevecca College from beginning to the present date. These speakers were Rev. R. A. Sullivan, Mrs. T. C. Young, Mr. Roy Gomer, and Mrs. Jewell Phelps. In addition to his talk, Mr. Sullivan sang a solo, "When The Mists Have Rolled Away."

A dinner was provided in honor of all students who attend Bethel Nazarene Church at the noon hour on Sunday, September 27. The Young People's Society also sponsored this affair. There were approximately 30 students present for this luncheon.

The campus birds have been fluttering around the tower lately. Their chatter drifts from the steeple when they stop to rest their wings.

"Yesterday morning I heard a terrible noise from the English Literature class," chirped a sparrow to a robin," and I flew down to investigate. There sat Forest McCullough convulsed with laughter; someone had told a joke thirty minutes before and he had just caught on. Time bomb laughter?? . . . The other afternoon I heard a roar from the botany lab. Mrs. Bracken was lost behind a map that Ross Sanders had unfolded. You know, Robin, I'm a very nervous bird and those humans below are making me a wreck. The other day I was sitting on the chapel window sill enjoying Professor Phillips' message when the furnace vent crashed on the floor. It frightened me, but everyone laughed and the professor laughed with them . . . Of course, humans are psychologically different from birds and speaking of psychology, three of the head residents are taking that subject. They are learning new methods on how to keep Wanda Phillips from crawling through the window when the door is locked over at Hardy Hall, and the boys from smearing shaving soap on the door knobs in their dorm! Talk about shaving soap, Sonny Fulwood sure has made a clean sweep of things. Materials and Methods class seems to be an alarming subject, especially when Eula Jean Stephens takes her clock to class . . . Things get awfully exciting down there sometimes. There was almost a stampede in the library the other night. Everyone made a last minute rush to get English Comp. and Library assignments. Eleanor Richardson declared she couldn't even find a chair.

Naomi Ruth Barker keeps Miss Cooner's speech class happy, especially when she isn't prepared for a question. It keeps me busy watching those students, especially Dale Martin but I wish he would buy his own chewing gum! Just listen to the sounds floating up this way, Robin! Let's fly down for a while."

So the birds flew away but they will return bringing more news about you to the TOWER.

Keys Rehearse For Recital

Rev. and Mrs. Clifford E. Keys, Jr. gave the fine arts program for this school year a grand send-off with their recent recital featuring vocal, piano, and organ arrangements of sacred and secular music. The event took place in the Alumni Auditorium, Friday evening, October 9, at 8:00 p.m. The numbers used on the program were as follows:

- O The Fierce Delight - Mallott
- Old Mother Hubbard
- The Holy City
- I Believe
- Arrangements of Negro Spirituals
- Clair de Lune - DeBussy
- Hold Thou My Hand
- Cavatina
- Intermezzo from Cavalleria

PERSONALITY PARADE

If you have wondered who the young man is whose arms are always filled with important looking notebooks, and who is always dashing through the hall putting up impressive looking signs, two guesses will bring the answer. It is Bob Breedlove, our Student Council Secretary for this year of 1953-54. Bob was born in Opp, Alabama, but left Alabama for Georgia. He received his early education at Midway Grammar School and Baker High School in Columbus, Georgia. Even in high school, Bob proved he was a leader in the office of president of the "Hi-Y" Club, a young men's Christian association. He was also a member of the National "Beta" Society. Upon graduation from high school "Uncle Sam" claimed Bob and he served two years in the United States Navy. During this time he traveled from California to Okinawa. Bob has always been active in church work, serving in every department from board of trustees to Sunday School teacher. Bob is a college Senior this year and has been marked an outstanding student since he appeared on the campus. He has been a member of the Honor Society all four years, has an important office on the Student Council this year. Then to show he is interested in all phases of school life, he is captain of the upper classmen football team. We will regret to tell Bob good-bye this year. We only hope more like him will come our way.

parties, and other similar activities.

Any woman whose husband attends college or high school at Trevecca may attend these meetings. The time is 7:30 each Tuesday evening and the place is the college cafeteria.

We would gladly present our most valued trophy to those who have attended every football game this season. Truly, when loyal fans are so few, there should be a special award for faithful attendance.

Football at TNC has been on the highest level this year. This is due to no one certain person, but to everyone working together for a better sports program at your school. Undoubtedly a lot is due to the support of several loyal fans.

Every game has been full of thrills and spills. Those boys spend a lot of time in practice sessions (and take it from me it isn't fun) to bring YOU the best brand of football possible. Boost your team and you are boosting TNC to a better sports program. Good wholesome entertainment—free to you!

The Sophomores showed championship form in defeating the High School team 31 to 6. The Lions are undefeated this season and are on top in the Conference standings.

The High School team was unable to hold back the Soph's powerful ground attack. They scored twice in the first quarter and once in each of the remaining quarters.

Outstanding for the Sophomores were Howard Spruill and Jim Herndon; each scoring two touchdowns. McCue scored once for the Lions and Schurman went over for the lone extra point.

High School's only score came late in the third quarter on a beautiful run by Phillip Rodgers.

High School Edge Frosh

High School, using a two-plate system, edged by a strong freshmen team 6 to 0 in what was the opening game for both teams.

The freshmen team led by Captain Godby who stresses defense, were unable to click on offense. High School's charging line pushed them back again and again.

High School scored early in the second quarter on a short pass from Philip Rodgers to Traylor in the end zone. This climaxed a long drive from their own 20 yard line.

the first year such a class has been formed. A spokesman for the group reported that interest is very high, because everyone in the class will have something in common. There have been approximately thirty in the Sunday School Class each Sunday since organization. Bill DeWees is the President and Mrs. Paul Fitch, Sr. is the instructor.

Eagles Upset Frosh

After battling to a scoreless tie the first half the upperclassmen came back strong the last half to overpower the freshmen 13 to 0.

The Eagles, underated after an early season loss, were underdogs in the game. This victory moved them to second place in the conference and had the experts changing their predictions.

Staring for the Eagles were Heaberlin and Breedlove, each scoring touchdowns. Grant Browning scored the extra point. Gene Shelton was outstanding for the losers.

Freshmen Lose

To Sophomores

The blue and gold Lions of the Sophomore class made it three victories in a row Tuesday by defeating the Freshman team 13 to 0.

It was a tough game to lose for the frosh. They have yet to taste victory this season.

The Sophomores scored early in the first quarter when Herndon swept wide around left end and went over standing up. McCue passed to Brenston Spruill for the extra point to make it 7 to 0 Lions. That's the way the first half ended.

The Lions, held back by a strong Freshman defense, could score only once in the last half. A long pass from Captain Spruill to H. Rogers accounted for that.
