To You Marian B. Washburn

Dedication

"The Christian college is the key to civilization. The teacher is the key to the Christian College. Therefore the Christian college teacher is the key to civilization."

DEAN BERTHA MUNRO

This sagacious and pertinent quotation from an educator of many successful years recalls to all minds the urgency of extenuating higher education in the Church of the Nazarene.

God has divinely appointed individuals from the ranks of the Church to fill a vital place at Northwest Nazarene College as "keys" to our continued civilization.

We recognize in you, Miss Washburn, one who exemplifies the ideal of this group. We see:

A glowing Christian life radiating the presence of the Lord

An exemplary personality

A Christian concern for all humanity

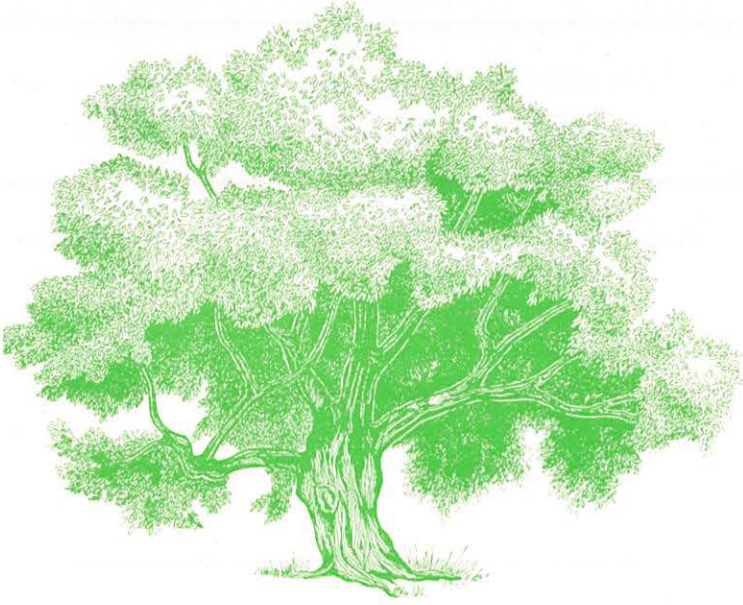

Evidence of high academic scholarship

And an abiding faith in the precepts and purposes of Northwest Nazarene College.

John Milton has written, "Fame is no plant that grows on mortal soil." So the genuine fame that is yours may never be seen by the majority of mankind. But in the immortal treasury of Heaven our Lord Jesus Christ is reserving for you a priceless portion of the sweetness and beauty accruing to others through your life.

Therefore we humbly dedicate to you, Marian B. Washburn, this 1953 OASIS with an attending prayer that the Supreme Giver of gifts shall reward you with spiritual peace and joy.

"It is education forms the common mind:

Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

ALEXANDER POPE

Foreword

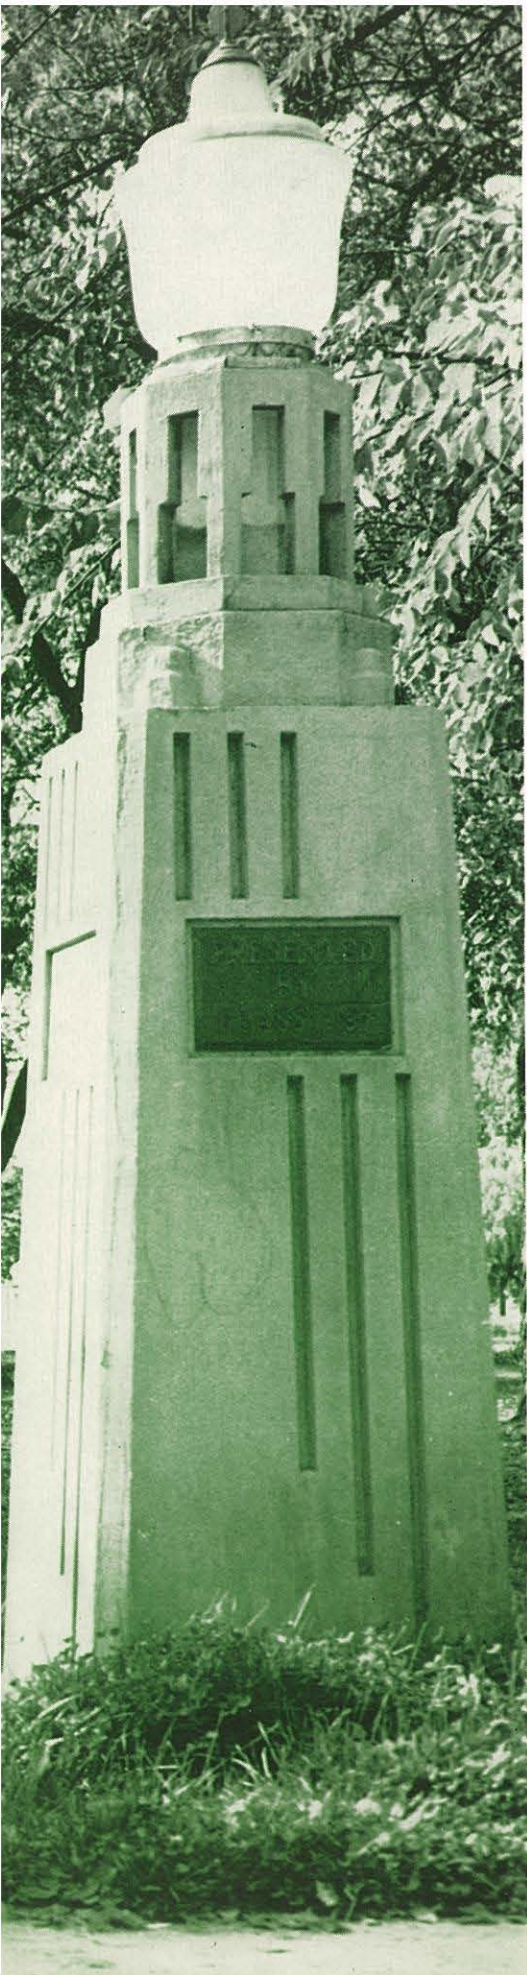

To live is to grow and to grow is to change. Under the bent of the moment the crusty habits of maturity are developed to eventuate into a completed structure. A combination of attenuating influences such as the sun, rain, and wind determine its consummate destiny.

As growth is the only evidence of life so God's divinely appointed institution, Northwest Nazarene College, has grown through the days of her years. Beginning with the seeds of thought sowed on the fertile soil of Christian minds this sturdy, collegiate tree of today is offering welcome shade to many who need her. Rooted and grounded firmly upon the precepts of the Holy Bible, strengthened and renewed in vigor by the Living Word, and branching out with the divine assistance of God, Northwest Nazarene College is flowering and producing fruit to be used for the spiritual sustenance of all mankind.

Under the worthy administration of Dr. John E. Riley and the guiding influence of the Board of Regents we have seen another branch form on our academic tree. High scholarship and spiritual stamina have been incorporated into this growth. The verdant atmosphere of curricular progress from the office of Dean Culver has spread its educational aura into every classroom. Under the impelling inspiration of the master Teacher we will continue to send our roots deeper and our branches higher in an earnest endeavor to fulfill our mission.

The 1953 OASIS staff, in preparing this annual, has attempted to give an accurate picture of the people and events which have been closely related to this school year. And as the days and months chase us more and more hurriedly into the future years of our lives may we recall this small space of time with thanksgiving in our hearts because God has been with us.

Inauguration

A new branch was grafted into the N.N.C. tree as Dr. John Eckel Riley was inaugurated seventh president of Northwest Nazarene College on November 5.

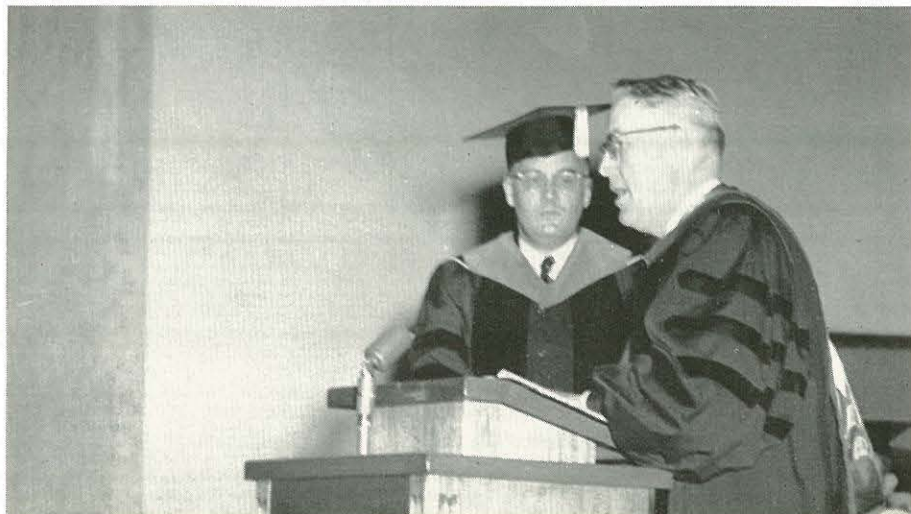

College church was the scene of the impressive ceremony as faculty members and official representatives marched in the regal academic procession. The Crusader Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Alline Swann, preceded the group, singing as they entered.

Presiding over the inauguration was Dr. S. T. Ludwig, General Secretary of the Department of Education. General Superintendent G. B. Williamson delivered the installation address presenting Dr. Riley with a charge: "And from you Mr. President, all I require is the faithful performance of your duties as God may enable you." Dr. Thelma Culver, Dean of the College, read the scripture and Rev. Eugene Stowe, Pastor of College Church, gave the invocation.

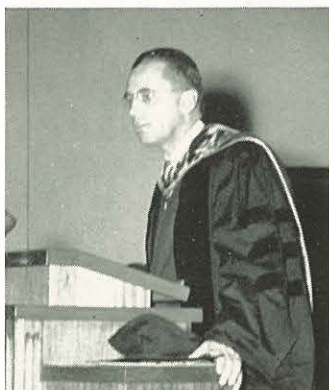

Dr. Riley in his inspiring address, "The Person and the Issues," accepted the challenge given to him by Dr. Williamson. In closing his address he said, "It is my firm conviction that only God can help us. It is my pledge that every element in the curriculum of N.N.C. shall be an avenue to Him Who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life; that we shall encourage intellectual thoroughness, scholastic industry, social and spiritual betterment; that we shall always keep the person in mind, and charge him with the issue."

Already as this annual goes to press, the branch is bearing fruit to the glory of God.

Greetings were brought from The Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools by President Eugene B. Chaffee of Boise Junior College; other Nazarene Colleges by Dr. W. F. Purkiser, President of Pasadena College; the Board of Regents of Northwest Nazarene College by Dr. B. V. Seals, Chairman; and the General Board of the Church of the Nazarene by Dr. Lewis T. Corlett, President of the Nazarene Theological Seminary.

There were official representatives from seventeen different schools, including four Nazarene Colleges and the Nazarene Seminary.

The church was packed to capacity as friends came to honour our new President, Dr. Riley. Beautiful bouquets of flowers sent by well-wishers banked the altars.

Our President Speaks

One of the wonderful treasures of life is memory, a vast storehouse in which are kept the countless thousands of one's experiences. Sometimes memory seems like a disordered attic where one stumbles over boxes and old trunks in a vain effort to recover something one wishes to find; sometimes like a nagging child who keeps constantly before one something one would rather forget. Nevertheless, memory is one of the golden links with our yesterdays, a link which gives us identity, which gives gathering meaning to our years.

This yearbook, prepared by the coordinated effort and skills of the staff members and all their technical assistants, will serve as a perpetual talisman to conjure from memory the rich and varied experiences of this year. Without this book in our hands we will discover, in the tomorrows, that the events of 1952-53 will become overlaid by and blended with our later experiences; and that is as it should be. But with this book in our hands we will be able to live again, briefly and with a quickening of heart, the campus fellowship, the quiet desperation of a comprehensive exam, the wild surge of the last five minutes at a basketball game, the soul moving experience of a midweek service, the pleasant pain of leaving our Alma Mater with a sheepskin in our hands.

I wish to say "thank you" to those who have labored to capture something of the best of this year at Northwest Nazarene College. Aside from the sum total of all our memories, this is the best chronicle of these days that have gone by swifter than a weaver's shuttle. I wish to say "God bless you" to all of those who have lived together on and around the campus this year, providing the subject matter for the picture and word of this annual. And I wish to say to those whose feet will be turning toward this campus in years to come, "May your days here be even richer and sweeter than those pictured on these pages."

President

Dr. Riley, Noel, Mrs. Riley,
Gail, and Lynn

DR. B. V. SEALS
Chairman

Board of Regents

Meeting each fall and spring on the campus the Board of Regents under the leadership of Dr. B. V. Seals discusses and acts upon the needs of our school.

The Board is composed of ministers and laymen from the nine districts which make up our educational zone. These men are chosen by vote of their respective District Assemblies and the number from each district is determined according to the district's membership. The districts included in our educational zone are Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota,

Rocky Mountain, Nevada-Utah, Idaho-Oregon, Oregon-Pacific, Northwest and Washington-Pacific.

The members of the Board have shown a vital interest in the development of the spiritual, physical and educational progress of Northwest Nazarene College. This group of Christian men is responsible for electing our president, business manager, faculty members and all other officers; they draw up the plans for any remodeling and improvements made on the campus; they approve the plans dealing with expansion of the school's curriculum and in conjunction with the president they offer guidance in spiritual welfare.

This year they have sponsored the Mortgage Reduction plan in which laymen and ministers have contacted each church on the zone to present the needs of the school. The Board gave this plan a wonderful send-off by pledging $4,000 in the meeting in which it was presented.

Student Council

Upon his shoulders each member of the Council bears numerous obligations for he is a representative of one particular branch of the student body. These duties include such responsibilities as supervising Associated Student Body elections, setting up the budget, and conducting a weekly chapel program.

Council members gathered every Wednesday evening after prayer meeting to discuss current and future problems in the growth of student government on the campus. The representatives gave liberally of their time when problems arose that needed hours of deliberation before they could be completely untangled.

The Council members, who are elected to the honor by popular vote, form the trunk of the tree from which classes, societies, departmental clubs and other organizations branch. It is an ever-growing proposition and therefore its branches are gradually increasing in number and covering a larger area of interests.

Class of '53

As the Seniors took their places in the front rows in the chapel of N.N.C. they also took front positions in the influence and responsibilities of school life and activities.

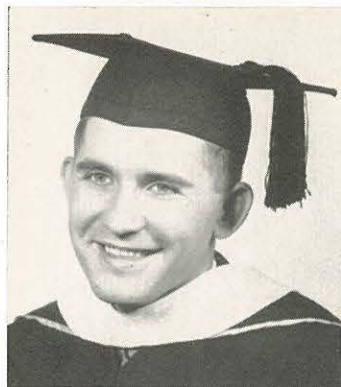

The class made its first victory in successfully sneaking away to Shore Lodge without the knowledge of any Junior. With the sneak came boat rides on the lake, horse-back riding, games, picnics, hikes, and the memorable campfire devotions of songs and testimonies, keyed by Dr. Hansen's inspirational message. The Juniors gave a warm welcome to the Seniors as they returned to again assume their duties in the classroom and on the campus.

Every Tuesday evening the Seniors wended their way to the Speech Hall to President's Seminar with Dr. Riley. It was during these classes that a closer personal contact was established between the students and the school president.

The Junior-Senior Banquet brought another pleasant occasion to fit into the scrapbook of memories. They also remember, but not with such fondness, the trying ordeal of struggling through comprehensive examinations.

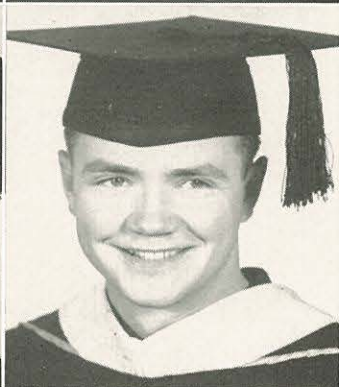

Throughout each day the importance of each class activity, each lecture, service, sermon, and prayer was embedded in the minds and hearts of the Seniors. Formal education was soon to end and with it were to come new responsibilities, new duties, and new contacts. As the Seniors looked at the motto each day in chapel—"Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God"—they became more earnest in their desire to fulfill this as they were soon to branch out into various fields of service.

The Seniors entered into graduation activities with Investiture, the reception given by the faculty in honor of the Seniors, the last chapel program with its presentation of the gift to the school, its Valedictory and Salutatory addresses, the reading of the prophesy and class will which brought many smiles, and the tree planting ceremony. Baccalaureate came next and then Commencement, granting of diplomas—and finally the recessional. The Seniors realized with sobriety that they should soon go forth from the halls of N.N.C. to bear fruit for the Master. "And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water..."

"The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life." PROVERBS 11:30

Juniors

Juniors at last! And what a host of activities and plans are being formed as they take on the serious responsibilities of upper classmen. While the Freshmen and Sophomores searched frantically for their flags, the Juniors and Seniors searched as diligently and with as much hilarity for dates on tombstones, speeding tickets, and a hair from Dr. Riley's head as they engaged in a scavenger hunt sponsored by the class.

Seniors sneaked while the Juniors slept. They tried to forget their mortification as they planned hay rides and class parties.

The Junior-Senior banquet, a high light of the year, caused a few headaches and furrowed brows as the Juniors endeavored to make their banquet a memorable one.

It has become a tradition for each graduating class to plant a tree on the campus. The tree above, planted several years ago, continues to grow with the expanding interests of N.N.C.

Coming from all parts of the United States and several foreign countries students and faculty band together to form N.N.C. Unified by a common purpose this group exemplifies Christian America.

"They might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified."

Sophomores

The Sophomores, having survived one vigorous year at N.N.C., were eager to plunge into the activities with renewed enthusiasm. They became quite proud at having so many Freshmen bow down to them on hands and knees, carry their books, and treat them with such regality, but oh how drenched their spirits when pulled into the ditch by the Freshmen at the annual tug-o'-war.

The Sophomore class party and other activities highlighted the first semester with the annual Freshman-Sophomore picnic to be remembered with fond memories in many years to come.

With the progress of time their lives became more deeply rooted in spiritual truths under the guidance of school leaders and the matchless Christian atmosphere.

Freshmen

Winning their way into our hearts the Freshmen class of 1952-53 came to our campus filled with determination and enthusiasm to grow and let their influence branch out. This growth began immediately with the whirlwind of tests, registration, confusing class hours—and then the flag hunt and initiation with its coffee grounds, molasses and feathers. This was almost too much for the newcomers to our campus but humiliation was soon forgotten.

Little by little character continued to develop with the fine chapel talks, the messages of the pastor and revival speakers, prayer before classes, the exemplary lives of the professors and the testimonies of fellow students until the Freshmen became strong and sturdy twigs of the N.N.C. tree. The Freshmen have made great progress and are an excellent picture of true Christian growth.

Student Faculty Reception

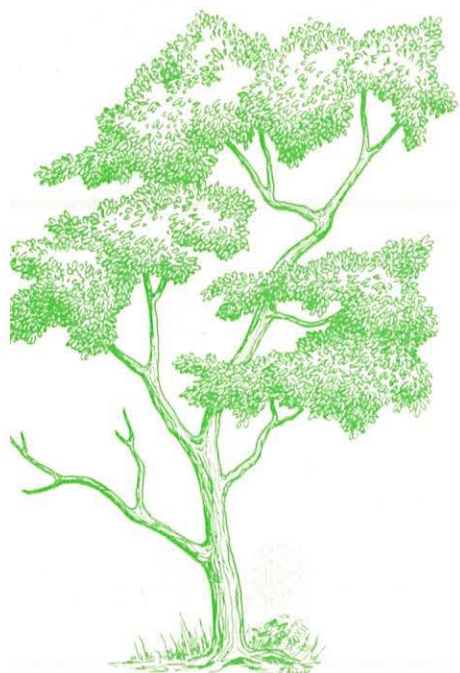

Celebrating N.N.C.'s fortieth year, the Student-Faculty Reception used as its theme the phrase, "Life Begins at Forty." The program for this first formal event of the year was based on man's seven ages from Shakespeare's "As You Like It." The reception provided a time for "budding" Freshmen to become acquainted with the faculty and returned students.

"And be thankful unto Him" was the theme of the formal Thanksgiving banquet which was inscribed in sampler style on the fireplace mirror and repeated on the programs. Guest speaker for the dinner was Rev. Kenneth Knox, local pastor of the Christian Church.

Traditional turkey and trimmings with hot pumpkin pie were the featured dishes of the meal. The dinner was served by waitresses dressed as pilgrims. The pilgrim motif was further carried out in a fireside scene representing a colonial home.

EUGENE STOWE
Opening Convention

Rev. Eugene Stowe, our own College pastor, was the speaker of the Opening Convention last September. This provided a way of becoming acquainted with the new pastor. His sound preaching and wonderful personality succeeded in winning a place in the heart of each college student. Rev. Stowe came to College Church from Salem, Oregon, where he was an active worker in District and General Young People's affairs.

DR. D. SHELBY CORLETT
Spring Revival

Dr. D. Shelby Corlett was the guest speaker for the Spring Holiness Crusade. As an outstanding holiness expositor, Dr. Corlett brought a tremendous wealth of experience and scholarship concerning entire sanctification. Dr. Corlett was the first General N.Y.P.S. Secretary and later edited the "Herald of Holiness" for eight years.

The Mangum Missionary Lectures were given this year by Dr. Evelyn Witthoff, a returned missionary from India. In her chapel talks she presented a picture of the daily life of the Indian people and the obstacles that need to be overcome in the work among them.

Rev. E. W. Martin, speaker for the Miller Lectures, is pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Detroit, Michigan. His instruction through these lectures was beneficial to the whole student body in their content and challenging power. These lectures are sponsored in memory of the late General Superintendent Dr. H. V. Miller.

REV. EUGENE STOWE
Pastor

College church and its program of service and help might be considered the tap root of student life on the campus. Through the Sunday school, regular Sunday worship, evangelistic services, N.Y.P.S., and prayer meetings, students find help and are established in their Christian experience.

The services offer a place for prayer, give an opportunity to share burdens and joys, and provide a spiritual uplift to those who need strengthening.

This main root of campus life furnishes strength and growth to the other branches which make up college activities. "And if the root be holy, so are the branches." Romans 11:16.

Her majesty, Queen Estelle I, was crowned at the traditional Tip-Off game on January 24. The three upper-division princesses were presented with bouquets of roses. Queen Estelle received the American Beauty roses which signified her royal status. After the princesses were crowned, Queen Estelle was crowned and presented to the student body by Bob Dennis, president of the N Club. She and her court reigned throughout the game. Queen Estelle wore a white net and taffeta gown which was sprinkled with sequins. The two upper-division princesses in the royal court were Patrycia Wilkes and Beverly Lais. Representing the lower division were Mary Wing and Doris Rice. This was the seventh annual Tip-Off game. The coronation ceremonies and decorations were arranged by Gamma Nu Gamma and the N Club.

C. H. S. Student Council

College High Student Council is the beginning of actual experience in democratic student government and leadership for many students. This group directs all-student affairs in C.H.S.

The Student Council is composed of the student body president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, sergeant at arms, and a representative from each class. This group begins to spread its influence over the College High branch of the campus through its plans for the year. Coach Elmore Vail lends a guiding hand at times when it is needed to untangle parliamentary difficulties and to offer suggestions.

All matters concerning student government are handled by the council. This group also sponsors an all-school party each semester. Included in its duties is the assistance in student discipline problems which they are called upon to handle.

Student Council offers a good place to show that leadership abilities, Christian principles, and student government can be successfully combined. As a student leader is trained so the training will follow through into his future vocational life.

High School Tip-Off

Queen Shirley

The high light of the C.H.S. basketball season is the crowning of the Tip-Off Queen. Preceding the traditional game with the Greenleaf Grizzlies, the scene changed from the excitement of an anticipated game to the awe of an impressive coronation. "N" Club members formed an aisle through which the three princesses were escorted. The queen, whose identity had been kept a secret, was presented a bouquet of roses and crowned by the "N" Club president. Lovely Shirley Scott reigned as "Queen of the Trojans."

High School Football Squad

The autumn sports activities of College High School are centered largely around the Trojan's football season. The eight-man team, coached by Elmore Vail, has made a name for itself among the schools with which it competes. The athletic ability of the Trojans plus their good sportsmanship and clean playing make them a team of which to be proud.

Baseball

The 1952 baseball team completed the most successful season in the history of College High. Dan Holloway led the pitching department with three wins and one loss, followed by Robert Mittlieder with a two-one record. The three top hitters of the season were Mittlieder, Olson, Wells, with respective averages of .457, .379 and .306. Eight lettermen will return to form the nucleus for the 1953 team.

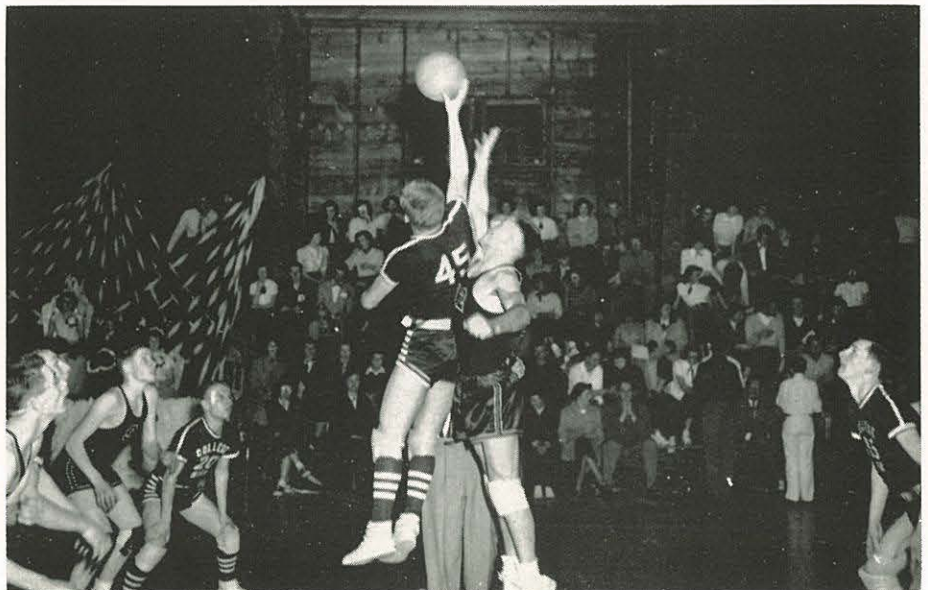

Coach Elmore Vail

Basketball

As winter settled in around C.H.S. the basketball fever blossomed forth. This fever seemed to be contagious in the whole student body and everybody did his part to make the basketball season a successful one. Ed Manley served as captain of the Trojans. High-point man was Roger Hitchcock with an average of nine points a game. Seniors on this year's team included Wells, Manley, Miller and Good.

Good jump, Roger!

Second row: Vail, Kratzer, N. Hopkins, Wright, Lindeman, Alexander, R. Ax, Donaho, Gould, Watson.

The band, under the direction of Virgil Vail, has grown steadily the last three years. As a pep band, it furnishes rousing numbers at the football and basketball games. In the spring the band is featured in a concert in connection with the College High Choir.

The Mixed Choir is an outstanding organization at College High. Under the direction of Lansing Bulgin, students with music ability find this organization a fine source of development.

N.N.C. has always been proud of her basketball squad and her coach, Monty Lee. Whether winning or losing the Crusaders uphold the Christian standards of the college. Supported by a vivacious team of cheerleaders, a rousing pep band, and an enthusiastic cheering section, the basketball squad could not do any less than its best.

Lauren Sanders is the only Senior on the team. He is a versatile player and does well on set shots and shots from the key.

Juniors on the team are Myron Finkbeiner, Roger "Skip" Wilcox, Mervyn Gale, and Herbert Geller. Captain Myron has the unusual knack of scoring from anywhere on the court and in any position. Skip is a rough man on the back boards and a threat in any offense capacity. Mervyn's strong point is his ability to shoot while running. Herb is a constant threat on interception and has earned the name of "Team Hustler."

The four Sophomores on the team—Paul Anderson, Harold Stickney, Len Back, and Wayne Aller—have all shown their playing abilities by bringing in their share of points.

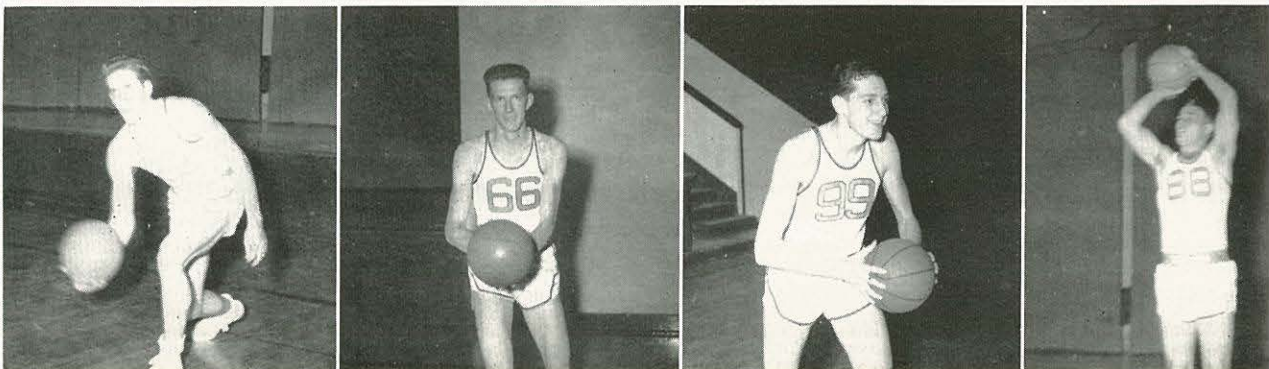

Freshmen Mickey Dean, Darrel Reisch, and Bob Cantonwine have kept the fans on their toes with their successful plays.

The Junior Varsity squad is composed of Freshmen and Sophomores who desire to improve their abilities in basketball playing and to learn the system of coaching used by the Varsity. The purpose of the J.V.'s is to train fellows in the fundamentals of good basketball.

Bob Willard, one of the best, all-round, balanced players to attend N.N.C. was captain of the J.V.'s. His team included many players who will be seen on the varsity floor in the near future.

With an encouraging word and a good-natured grin, Coach Bob Dennis has led his Junior Varsity boys on to repeated victories. Playing several preliminary games and others on their own, the members of the J.V. team have become known for their Christian sportsmanship and enthusiastic spirit.

Enthusiasm, originality, and much hard work went into making one of N.N.C.'s better cheering teams. Encouraged by the pep of the leaders, the cheering section was one of the noisiest and biggest boosters to the ball team as they gave forth new and familiar yells. The waving of those mammoth orange and black pompons seemed to revive any and all waning spirits even when the score was against us.

Baseball

With spring comes baseball, and eager fans waiting for the first pitch to start the season. Fans this spring were especially optimistic because the pre-season drills held promise of success to the diamond hopefuls who worked hard to "make the team." Under the direction of Coach "Pop" Frazier, and with the added help of Dan Wright, Crusaders diamond prospects were considerably improved over last season.

Track

First row: Lee, Fouch, Stockett, Johnson, Dean, Aller, Gilson. Second row: Miller, Maxey, Koerner, Anderson, Beeson, Powers, Runyon.

N.N.C. kept its name on the athletic map by fielding another powerful track squad this spring. Already recognized as the best small college track team in the state and one of the best in the Northwest, the cinderburners added more trophies to the case with outstanding showings in various meets. The loss of three of their best men—Millard Reynolds, Art Sullivan and Bob Burkhart—was partially offset by the gain of Mickey Dean, former all-state athlete, and Paul Fouch.

Among the outstanding meets in which the Crusader thinclads participated were: Idaho State, College of Idaho, Eastern Oregon College of Education, Whitman, and Boise Junior College. The traditional climax of the track season once again brought the state's top cinder squads to Nampa for the annual N.N.C. invitational meet which was staged at Bulldog Bowl.

Turkey Bowl

Thanksgiving morning is the day for the annual Turkey Bowl brawl. Bloodshed is a minor detail when the opposing teams clash in this game of the year—one fowl game.

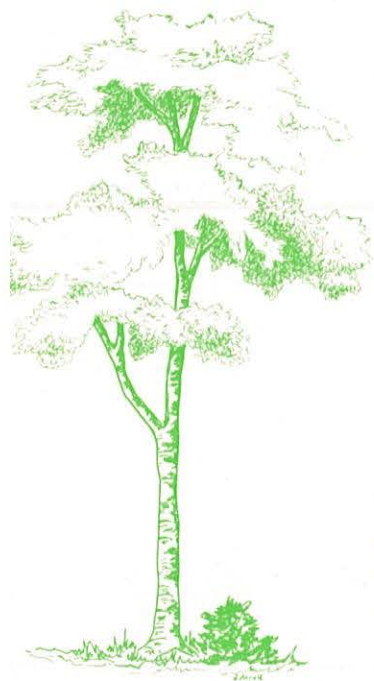

KeeLee's Killers garnered a 7-6 victory over Wright's Battlers in the conflict. The winning points were made when one of the Killers intercepted a pass to make a touchdown and later gain the extra point.

During the first weeks of school in the fall the cross country track team trains for a grueling season. This year's team placed third in competition with five other colleges at the track meet in Pocatello, Idaho, but lost to the University of Idaho later in the season at Moscow.

Lambda Sigma Pi Society

The singular virtues of a Society fuse into a unified attitude which identifies the whole group. So the individual contributions of loyal L.S.P.'s are indicative of the actual worth of the Society. They proved themselves more than worthy by working optimistically toward their goals of achievement.

Herbert Geller and Wendell Poole, presidents for this college year, did commendable work as leaders of the Society. With the cordial and wholesome support of every L.S.P. they made a lasting contribution to N.N.C. Realizing, however, that someone has to be at the bottom of the heap, they placed fourth first semester. But with characteristic highspirits and determination they launched the second semester with flying colors.

Knowing that success is not measured by points and trophies we are genuinely proud of the Lambda Sigma Pi Society. Their interest in boosting the growth of each of their members makes them rate highly on the score card of values. And as this annual goes to press we would not be at all surprised to see them on top at the end of second semester.

Olympian Society

Incoming Freshmen look anxiously and hopefully toward the Athletic Office to see which Society will claim them as a member for their college days. Some inwardly wish, "Oh, to be an Oly!" This is natural and worthy for the Oly's fill a vital place in the total program of N.N.C. We commend them for their exuberant spirits and tenacious desire to win.

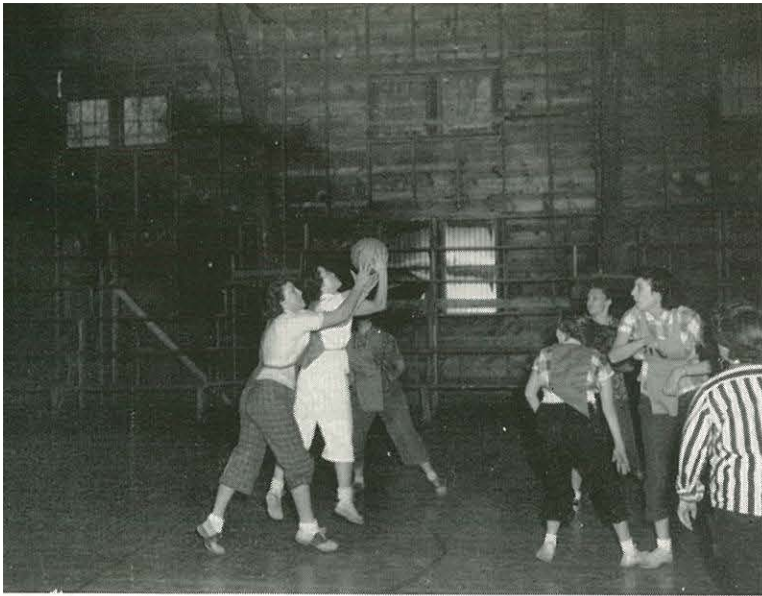

Under presidents Glenn Embree and George Mowry, this year has seen many developments in the "Oly" world. Youthful vigor plus able athletes has insured victory in many games. A combination of good sportsmanship and undaunted vision secured high positions for them in the total sports program. The boys won first place in both football and basketball.

In addition to being "muscle men" (and women) they evidenced high literary and acting talent in the plays and contests. Although they did come in third for the faculty loving cup the first semester they characteristically say, "There's a bright day coming."

The refreshing hours of relaxation and valuable lessons learned in participation within Society activities are especially significant if you are an "Oly." The shades of past glory and inherent ability to redeem the time combine their respective forces in making the Olympian Society significant and valuable.

"I've been working on the railroad!"

What's wrong, Faye?

Close your mouth, Fink.

Watch that pass, fellows.

Bertie Graham, Eugenia Steinbach, Joan Boswell, Dick Ivester, President, Wayne Aller, Howard Smith.

Sigma Lambda Alpha Society

Having the venerable distinction of being the oldest Society on the campus, the S.L.A.'s are characterized by wisdom plus an inveterate enthusiasm. Presidents Butch Bloomquist and Dick Ivester worked hard to inspire their great gang on to win the faculty loving cup. Rising heroically and ably to second place for the first semester they were piling on the coal to steam into first for the last half of the academic year.

The S.L.A.'s are a versatile Society. Not only did they contribute faithfully and artistically to the dramatic productions and the Speech and Music Contests, but they were strong on the athletic field. We extend our congratulations to the girls who took the only first place on the softball diamond.

As the cycle of academic growth continues to evolve with the years we look toward the S.L.A.'s to make a lasting and inviolate impression in the area of student life. We really couldn't do without you at N.N.C.!

Combination of talent and wind.

Keep looking up, boys.

Check that swing.

Survival of the fittest.

Lois Tracy, Noreen DeJong, Gladys Fred, Mervyn Gale, Russell Miller, Clarence Olson, President.

Alpha Delta Phi Society

Northwest Nazarene College is known in the Nazarene educational world for her remarkable intramural program. The A.D.P.'s are one of the four Societies responsible for this good reputation. With a good share of enthusiasm and a will to win the A.D.P.'s won the faculty loving cup for the first semester. Congratulations!

Under the able leadership of her two presidents, Lauren Sanders and Clarence Olson, they continue to make known their presence on the athletic field, in Society plays, in the Music Festival, and the Speech Contest.

Purple and gold are their colors and "as good as gold" is their major characteristic. True sportsmanship, esprit de corps, and wholesome pride in N.N.C. are attenuating virtues. May the free and rollicksome yell of "Alpha Delta Phi, Fight!" continue to reverberate through the halls of N.N.C.

"It's in the book."

JOE J. KEEN
Editor

The

His capacity for organizing material, handling his staff and willingness to work have made Joe Keen an editor who personifies efficiency. Many a night and day of planning, supervising and untangling problems were spent to make the '53 OASIS a finished product.

However efficient the editor, though, the annual could not have been a success without the full cooperation of the editorial staff. The Make-up Editor, Pat Wilkes, has guided her staff through the multiplicity of details that consist in the planning and mounting of the dummy. This group spent long hours making sure the pictures were the right size and in the right place. Congratulations are in order for Velma Poole who has done an outstanding job as High School Editor. Literary Editor, Bonnie McGraw, has toiled endlessly to keep her staff of writers working so that enough copy would be on hand for the next deadline.

Oasis

Managing the money, collecting picture fees and securing ads are the main duties of Don Mesman, business manager of the '53 OASIS. These duties are a vital part of the production of the annual for without the additional income from advertisements, it would be impossible to produce such a book as this.

Sharing a heavy part of the responsibility of the annual production are the photographers. Covering every major event with a flash-bulb, our student shutterbugs have done a wonderful job. Another important "behind the scenes" group is the staff. They do the actual work of cutting pictures, applying rubber cement, typing, running errands and writing. Without the staff members the editors are helpless. In a large degree the success or failure of the OASIS depends on the work and cooperation of these staff members.

Editor

From the time assignments were given to the reporters until the paper went to press Crusader staff members shared with Earlene Tapley the duties of publishing the campus news. Business manager Herb Myers was responsible for keeping the books in order and securing more advertisements when needed. News editor Jo Clocksene made sure every departmental club was covered. She also checked activities on the school calendar, seeing to it that all the school events were reported. The success of the sports page was the responsibility of Ron Kirkpatrick. Noreen DeJong handled the make-up. This included the writing of heads and the placing of news stories in the paper. Taking the facts unearthed by the reporters and making them into news stories was the responsibility of Carolemay Rapp and her staff. Mrs. Briggs was the faculty advisor.

KROK, the radio voice of Northwest Nazarene College, was taken over by the Associated Students of the campus and is now owned and operated by them. Under the efficient and able leadership of Station Manager Paul Wright and Business Manager Ron Beech, this radio station has already proved to be a real asset on the campus.

Besides broadcasting chapel services and evening church services, it transmits "Showers of Blessings" and "The Haven of Rest." The station features programs of sacred music every evening, both by transcription and direct broadcast. On the secular level, broadcasts are made of baseball and softball games. During basketball season all the home games were broadcast. An amateur give-away quiz program is an added feature.

The radio staff constantly strives to make new improvements on the station to make it an even greater asset on the campus. The station provides students with an opportunity to become familiar with the workings of a small radio station.

General Missionary Society

Herbert Geller, Loring Beals, Lois Becker, Rod Newman, President: Duane Poplin.

Stressing missions and missionary spirit through student personnel and outside speakers is the main purpose of the General Missionary Society. In addition to the chapel programs the group sponsors the prayer and fasting hour Thursday noon. This year's project was the building of a church in Noordgesig, South Africa.

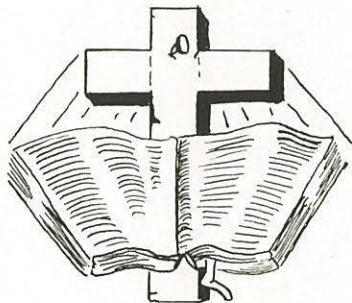

The Foreign Missions Band was primarily organized for those students who had a definite call to missionary service. The meetings are open to anyone who has a desire to acquire information concerning the missionary and his problems. Special speakers include missionaries, foreign students, and students under call to the mission field.

Christian Workers Band

Duane Poplin, Lyle Starkey, Professor Sharp, Donna Krause, Dave Witt, President.

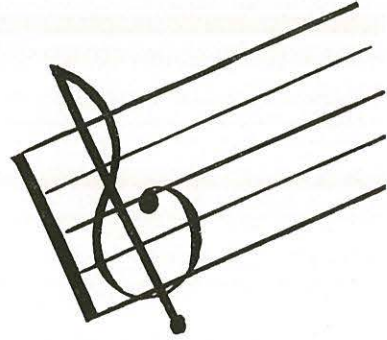

Realizing that "experience is the best teacher," the Christian Worker's Band makes use of the talent of members of the student body who are desirous of taking an active part in Christian work. Each Thursday night, following a period of devotions and testimony, assignments are made to members of the group. Every Sunday gospel teams including teachers, singers and ministers, leave the campus to go to different outposts. These groups are essential for the reaching of many communities where the church is too small to support a full time pastor where the work is just beginning. Many times workers hold week-end revivals at some of the churches in Idaho, Oregon and Washington. No other organization on the campus is more useful in promoting Christian service.—"For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root of a dry ground."

Mu Upsilon Sigma

One of the main objectives of the Mu Upsilon Sigma is to present a fine quality of music to the campus. The Club sponsors the Wednesday afternoon recitals, orchestra concerts, and other musical programs throughout the year.

Beta Chi Alpha, the art club, also has as its purpose the provision of an outlet for the students' creative talents. This group has made many colorful and interesting contributions to the campus throughout the year's activities.

The Circle K, which is sponsored by the Nampa Kiwanis Club, has aided greatly in boosting projects on the campus. The main project for the club this year was building a beautiful prayer chapel in Morrison Hall.

Personality improvement, good grooming, better homemaking and community life are among the various topics discussed by the Home Economics Club girls. The club has progressed more rapidly since they have had access to the better equipment in the new building.

Future Teachers of America

Future Teachers of America is a pre-professional organization for those who are interested in the field of teaching. N.N.C.'s group, the E. E. Angell chapter, is the oldest and most active in the state.

Through F.T.A. meetings the students meet state and educational leaders; become familiar with the National Educational Association and Idaho Educational Association organizations, and discuss individual educational problems. These activities carry out the purpose of the organization which is to acquaint future teachers with current educational problems and possible solutions.

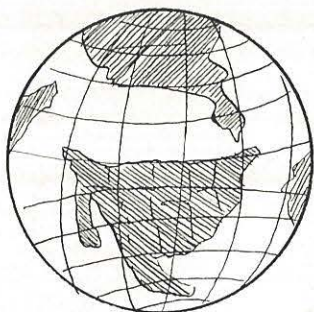

To further acquaint students with current educational needs a delegation is sent each year to the I.E.A. District Convention. In this meeting the delegates set up the state educational policies for the coming year.

N.N.C. can be proud of her future teachers who will train the youth of the nation. A teacher's Christian leadership is a vital and valuable contribution to his local community.

Associated Women Students

The Associated Women Students is one of the largest organizations of the campus. With Lois Herron as the enthusiastic president, the A.W.S. has had part in many of the year's main activities. The Big-Little Sister Tea, the purpose of which is to welcome the new girls, introduced a successful year. Next on the calendar came the annual pajama party, the theme for which was a hobo convention. "And be thankful unto Him" was the theme of the Thanksgiving banquet. Members of the A.W.S. carried out this idea in their decorations and in the program. February introduced Heart Sister Week which was climaxed by a Valentine party. Other activities for the year included the spring tea, several chapel programs, and cooperating with the Men's Club in a drive to secure books for the new college in Australia.

The Men's Club, in friendly competition with the Associated Women Students, has also made a name for itself in college life. Capable George Mowry displayed his leadership ability as president of the Club. The opening event on the calendar of this masculine organization was the annual Stag Night. Following a week's activity centered on the beard growing contest, an evening of fun and entertainment for men only was held in the gym. Men sporting the best-trimmed beard and the brightest sweater were given prizes. In conjunction with the A.W.S. the Men's Club sponsored Twirp (the woman is required to pay) Week. Other plans of the Men's Club included a Big-Little Brother Coke Party and the laying of a sidewalk from Emerson Administration Building to Chapman Hall.

ADP-OLY Society Play

The Olympian and Alpha Delta Phi Societies gave a dramatization of James Barrie's "The Little Minister." An old-fashioned parlor in the minister's home in Thrums, a little village in Scotland, was the setting in which Gavin Dishart (Gary Finkbeiner), the little minister, met and overcame the problems of his first pastorate. He fell in love with Babbie (Lorrie Mack), a young gypsy girl.

The Lambda Sigma Phi and Sigma Lambda Alpha Societies presented the dramatic interpretation of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Dr. Henry Jekyll (George Ferguson), was a prominent and respected physician living in London. He perfected a potion which, taken internally, transformed him from the lovable, gentle Dr. Jekyll into the hideous, misshapen, maniacal Edward Hyde (Roy Puckett).

Crusader Choir

Members of the Crusader Choir, resplendent in their black and orange robes, provided many an enjoyable moment in music during this past year. Under the able leadership of Mrs. Alline Swann and accompanied by Elaine Carlson, the choir has presented a number of musical programs and participated in numerous official functions. One of the most outstanding of these events was the inauguration of Dr. Riley as the new college president.

The choir joined with the Philharmonic Choral Group in the presentation of The Messiah which officially opened the Christmas season for the city of Nampa.

In addition to their chapel programs and evening concerts the choir made a tour of the churches in the neighboring states to represent the school.

Messiah

This year marked the fifteenth presentation of Handel's oratorio, The Messiah, by the Philharmonic Choral Society of Northwest Nazarene College. Under the direction of Professor L. W. Bulgin, the group included not only student personnel but singing groups from the community.

Soloists selected for this year's performance were Estelle Schroeder, soprano; Arlene Samuelson, contralto; Quincy Angier, tenor; and Marvin Bloomquist, bass. Accompanying the group were Mrs. Alline Swann, organist; Mrs. Ruby Sanner, pianist, and a string ensemble.

Four artist members of the Music faculty including Alline Swann, Dean of School of Music, Double E. Hill, Elaine Carlson, and Ruby Sanner combined their skills in presenting a faculty instrumental ensemble concert. The program consisted of: "In Thee is Gladness" by Bach, "The Afternoon of a Fawn" by Debussy, "Scaramouche Suite" by Milhaud, and "Piano Concerto No. 2 in G Minor" by Saint-Saens.

String Ensemble

Mrs. Alice Kauffman has been the teacher in the Strings Department for the past six years and has been a faithful concert master of N.N.C.'s Orchestra. Her influence on the students has been one of inspiration. No task has ever been too small for her undivided attention. For these reasons we salute her. This year she has developed the organization pictured below.

Alice Kauffman, Velta Jones, T. C. Leckie, Betty Miralles, Melvin Lacock, Justine Reed, Bill Vimont.

Men's Chorus

This year the male chorus has inspired many listeners with its dynamic rendition of sacred music. Singing in college church, chapel and musical programs, they have been a real asset on the campus. During Easter season the group went on a two-week tour singing in many churches and schools helping to represent the college and its music department. This tour proved to be an inspiration to the members of the chorus and to the churches which were visited.

Ability plus pep and determination have added up to make a good N.N.C. Band. This was evidenced by the heightened enthusiasm at basketball games and pep rallies. The band also helped give the motorcades an exuberant welcome. Under the student direction of George Mowry a concert was presented in the spring, climaxing a successful year for the college band.

Laurels and Orchids

Any success which this annual might enjoy is entirely to the credit of The 1953 OASIS staff who worked hard and cooperated in every respect. Even the eccentricities of the editor did not daunt them in their efforts.

Both the editor and business manager feel very grateful to the Caxton Printers, Ltd. for the fine work they have done. Especially do we appreciate Mr. Jean Swanson with whom we dealt directly.

We acknowledge with appreciation the fine work of Mr. Ellis Chapin and the Photo Shop. They gave us complete satisfaction.

Western Engraving of Seattle deserve our thanks for the prompt and satisfactory completion of our engraving.

For the encouragement of Miss Washburn as our faculty sponsor and the sagacious advice of our business advisor, Mr. Johnson, we are deeply appreciative.

To the entire student body of Northwest Nazarene College we express our sincere thanks for the privilege of serving you and your interest. The benefits accruing to us outweigh any pleasure you might receive from the 1953 OASIS.

JOE J. KEEN, Editor

DON MESMAN, Business Manager
